

Film Incentive BC Summary for Treaty Co-Productions

Film Incentive BC (FIBC) is an economic initiative designed to encourage film, television, digital animation and visual effects production in British Columbia. Eligible applicants are film, television and animation production corporations that have incurred qualifying BC labour expenses. Production corporations that enter into a treaty co-production agreement may be eligible to access FIBC provided that they meet the requirements of FIBC legislation and the regulations. A treaty co-production is a film or video production that is jointly produced in Canada and another country in accordance with the treaty co-production agreement between Canada and another country.

How FIBC Works

FIBC is a refundable corporate income tax credit. When filing tax returns, production corporations may claim a specified percentage of the labour costs incurred in making film, television or digital animation productions. The credits are applied to reduce tax payable, and any remaining balance is paid to the corporation.

The production corporation must apply to Creative BC to receive an eligibility certificate and a completion certificate for the production. While these are generally applied for separately, the production corporation can apply for both eligibility and completion certificates together after the production is complete if it is within the required time frames. To claim the FIBC tax credits, the production corporation must file a corporate income tax return, along with the certificates, to the Canada Revenue Agency within 18 months from the end of the taxation year in which the FIBC is being claimed.

We strongly recommend that you submit your application for an eligibility certificate to Creative BC no later than 12 months from the corporation's taxation year in which principal photography began and your application for a completion certificate at least 6 months before the filing deadline with the CRA to provide for sufficient processing time. We cannot guarantee that applications filed later will be processed in time for the production corporation to file with the CRA before the deadline, which may result in denied claims.

General Eligibility Rules for Treaty Co-Productions

Production corporations and their productions must meet the following minimum conditions to qualify for FIBC (Note: there are different requirements for interprovincial co-productions and productions that are not co-productions):

- The production corporation claiming the tax credit must be a B.C.-based Canadian-controlled taxable Canadian corporation;
- The “producer” of the British Columbia portion of the production, i.e. the person(s) with creative and financial control of the BC portion of the production, must be a BC-based individual who is a Canadian;
- To be an official treaty co-production, the production must receive a Preliminary Recommendation & Final Recommendation from Telefilm Canada and Part A & Part B certificates from CAVCO;
- At least 20% of the cost of producing the Canadian portion of the production must be attributable to the B.C. production corporation;
- At least 75% of the cost of producing the British Columbia portion of the production must be paid to B.C.-based individuals or corporations for work done in B.C. (for documentaries, at least 75% of the cost of producing the B.C. portion of the production must be paid to B.C.-based individuals or corporations);

- The production must be completed within 24 months after the end of the taxation year in which principal photography (or, for animated productions, key animation) began;
- The production corporation must apply for and receive a completion certificate within 30 months after the end of the taxation year in which principal photography (or, for animated productions, key animation) began;
- There must be a written agreement with a Canadian-controlled distributor or broadcaster to have the production shown in Canada within 24 months of completion;
- There can be no distribution in Canada by a non-Canadian-controlled distributor or broadcaster within 24 months of completion;
- The B.C. production corporation must retain a reasonable revenue interest in non-Canadian markets;
- Principal photography (or, for animated productions, key animation) on the production has begun;
- Some genres are excluded from FIBC including, but not limited to, talk shows, news, live sports events, game shows, reality television, and advertising.

Calculating the Tax Credit Amount

The program includes six initiatives: Basic, Regional, Distant Location Regional, Training, Digital Animation, Visual Effects and Post-Production (DAVE) and Scriptwriting. The tax credit amounts are calculated on the qualified B.C. labour expenditure (QBCLE) of the corporation. The table below sets out the tax credit rates for productions with a principal photography (or, for animated productions, key animation) start date after December 31, 2024:

| TAX CREDIT (FIBC) | VALUE        | TAX CREDIT AMOUNT CALCULATED ON ...   |
|-------------------|--------------|---|
| Basic             | 40%   | QBCLE to maximum of 60% of the total cost of production (excluding assistance). For productions starting principal photography on or after October 1, 2016 and before January 1, 2025, the Basic FIBC rate is 35% of QBCLE to a maximum of 60% of the total cost of production.   |
| Regional*         | 12.5% | For live action productions, QBCLE prorated by the number of principal photography ("PP") days in British Columbia outside of the designated Vancouver area ("DVA") to the total days of PP in B.C. Note that to be eligible for the Regional TC, the production must have at least 5 PP days outside the DVA and over 50% of the B.C. PP days must be outside the DVA. For a television series, this double threshold applies for a minimum of 3 episodes as a group (the "qualifying episodes") and the Regional TC is further pro-rated by the number of qualifying episodes to the total number of episodes.For animated productions with a key animation start date after December 31, 2024, the Regional TC is based on B.C. labour expenditure in respect of services rendered by B.C.-based individuals who, for at least 50% of their time spent on the production, render the services in a "physical office" in B.C. outside the DVA. For productions with a key animation start date after June 26, 2015, and before June 1, 2024, the Regional TC is based on B.C. labour expenditure in respect |

|                   |       | of services rendered in B.C. outside the DVA. Productions with a key animation start date on or after June 1, 2024 and before January 1, 2025 are not eligible for the Regional TC.  |
| Distant Location* | 6%    | For live action productions, QBCLE prorated by the number of days of PP in British Columbia within a prescribed area to the total days of PP in B.C. To be eligible for the Distant Location TC, the production must be eligible for the Regional TC and have at least 1 PP day in a distant location. For a television series, this requirement applies to the qualifying episodes and the Distant Location TC is further pro-rated by the number of qualifying episodes to the total number of episodes. For animated productions with a key animation start date after December 31, 2024, the Distant Location TC is based on B.C. labour expenditure in respect of services rendered by B.C.-based individuals who, for at least 50% of their time spent on the production, render the services in a “physical office” in B.C. in a distant location. For productions with a key animation start date after June 26, 2015, and before June 1, 2024, the Distant Location TC is based on B.C. labour expenditure in respect of services rendered in B.C. in a distant location. Productions with a key animation start date on or after June 1, 2024 and before January 1, 2025 are not eligible for the Distant Location TC. |
| Training*         | 30%   | The amount paid to a B.C.-based individual registered in an approved training program. This TC is capped at 3% of the corporation’s QBCLE.   |
| DAVE*             | 16%   | BC labour directly attributable to digital animation, visual effects and post-production activities.   |
| Scriptwriting*    | 35%   | The labour expenditure paid to a B.C.-based scriptwriter(s) that are directly attributable to the development of script material of a production that are incurred after February 20, 2018 or 2 years before the principal photography or key animation start date (whichever is later) and before the end of the final script stage of the production.  |

* the production and production corporation must be eligible for the Basic tax credit before being able to access any of the other bonuses.
